BUDGET FAILS CANADIANS SAYS KADIS THORNHILL MP

March 20, 2007

Ottawa – Susan Kadis, Member of Parliament for Thornhill expressed complete dismay and disappointment in the Conservative budget. “This budget fails Canadians on so many levels. It is an exercise in abdicating our responsibility to build a competitive, environmentally sustainable economy and socially just society,” stated Mrs. Kadis in absolute amazement.

“This budget is proof that this minority conservative government is only thinking about the short –term optics rather than actually helping Canadians thrive and succeed. The cost of their tax hike in the last budget doesn’t even offset any possible gains announced in this budget,” declared Mrs. Kadis.

“This is the biggest shell game I have ever seen. This conservative government has really dropped the ball overall. Unfortunately, it comes at the expense of hard –working Canadians. This budget fails to offer adequate support to our post-secondary students, our national health care system, safeguarding our environment and positioning our country for the 21st century global market-place,” lamented Mrs. Kadis.

As a member of the Economic Prosperity Committee, we cannot support the abandonment of our hard-working people, and our future, Mrs. Kadis pointed out. “I simply cannot support this budget. The bottom line is, this short-sighted budget fails and diminishes our capacity to grow and prosper as a nation,” stated Mrs. Kadis unequivocally.
