KADIS APPOINTED AS CRITIC FOR SCIENCE AND RESEARCH

OTTAWA - Susan Kadis, Member of Parliament for Thornhill was appointed Critic for Science and Research yesterday by Opposition Leader Bill Graham, following the departure of the Honourable Joe Fontana from federal politics.

“I am very pleased with this appointment and look forward to encouraging greater support for our researchers,” said Mrs. Kadis. “Canada has built a solid record in research and is leading the way when it comes to science and technology advances. I look forward to ensuring we continue to strengthen Canada’s ability to prosper in the global knowledge-based economy with an even greater emphasis on science and research”.

First elected to the House of Commons on June 24, 2004, Ms. Kadis previously served as the Associate Critic for Infrastructure and Communities and Chair of the Standing Committee on the Status of Women. During the last session of Parliament, she was elected as Chair of the Greater Toronto Area (GTA) Liberal Caucus.

In Ms. Kadis’ new role as Critic for Science and Research, she will ensure that Canada remains at the forefront of competitiveness and innovation on the global stage. Ms. Kadis will hold the Conservatives to account so that the importance of science and research for our economy and natural environment are not forgotten by this government.
